The Prophetic Spirit, Now

Today, we live in a nation that is dangerously losing its sense of identity and purpose. Our political leaders often seem disconnected from the vision our founding fathers had for America. We are drifting further from the biblical call to seek justice, love mercy, and walk humbly with God.

The prophets spoke to the people of their day when they faced difficult times. They warned the people what could happen if they continued what they were doing. They also encouraged the people to change and follow God's ways. As Eugene Peterson writes, "The biblical prophets continue to be the most powerful and effective voices ever heard on the earth for keeping religion honest, humble, and compassionate."

When we understand what the prophets were doing—both in their words and their actions—we can be inspired to do the same. We, the people, can speak truth to power. As Christians, this is what Jesus preached and taught us to live by.

As we reflect on the prophets, do we see any parallels in today's world? We live in a democracy, a system that grants each of us a vote. However, when the politicians are not honest in their speeches, our votes are being won fraudulently. We must be wary of politicians who hold up Bibles pretending to be religious, while lacking the values it teaches. Why are we so impressed with rich people? Do we assume they are smarter? Do they know more about running the country? Too often, their concern lies more with profit than with people's needs, hurts, pain, and poverty.

As brave and courageous as the prophets were, they first made excuses as to why they couldn't speak for God. Moses claimed he couldn't speak well. Isaiah felt unworthy. Jeremiah said he was too young. I identify with them. At 85, I sometimes feel too old. But God did not accept their excuses, and God won't accept ours either.

Just as the prophets warned the people in their day, we are called to warn our people of what could happen if we keep moving in the direction we are headed. We are the Body of Christ. We are the arms, legs, and heart of the prophetic spirit. Our country needs us now – to speak, and to act.

The Dictionary defines grace in several ways, including “courteous goodwill”. But it’s God who gives this word true meaning. We physically define God’s grace to our world through acts of kindness, great and small. God created and calls us to be that amazing grace.

The Kingdom of God is built one brick at a time, one act of love at a time.

Our Call is a video series where Kimball shares stories and songs of God’s love and our opportunities to make a better world.

Being a child of God is a special relationship. God provides a home in our lives where we can receive unconditional love.

God’s love moves us to a personal relationship with our Lord and to others through acts of peace and justice.

Jesus said, “Unless you don’t accept God’s kingdom in the simplicity of a child, you will never get into the kingdom of heaven.”

In the late 60s, I wrote a song for young people. You’re not only the Church of the future, you are the Church today.

Jesus is the source of faith, hope, and love – the blessed assurance that the Holy Spirit lives inside of us.

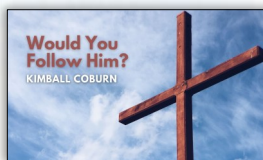

Jesus didn’t come to create a new religion, but to tear down religious barriers that keep us from seeking God.

Agape love compels us to be serving, caring, sharing, giving, and forgiving. Living a Christian life means embodying this selfless love.

The Spirit of God lives within us, empowering us to be loving, joyful, peaceful, patient, kind, good, faithful, gentle, and self-controlled.

Following Christ means giving him your all and serving others unselfishly. The question is, will you follow Him?

Seize every chance to give children wonderful, faith-building experiences that help them develop strong, enduring faith.

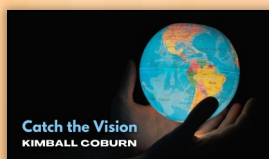

Jesus taught us to be peacemakers. In Christ, we commit to building a community of peace and love.

God’s love is a free gift of grace that we can receive and share. Sharing this gift in our relationships completes the circle of grace.

More than ever, we need to be at work sharing the God’s message of love through acts of compassion.

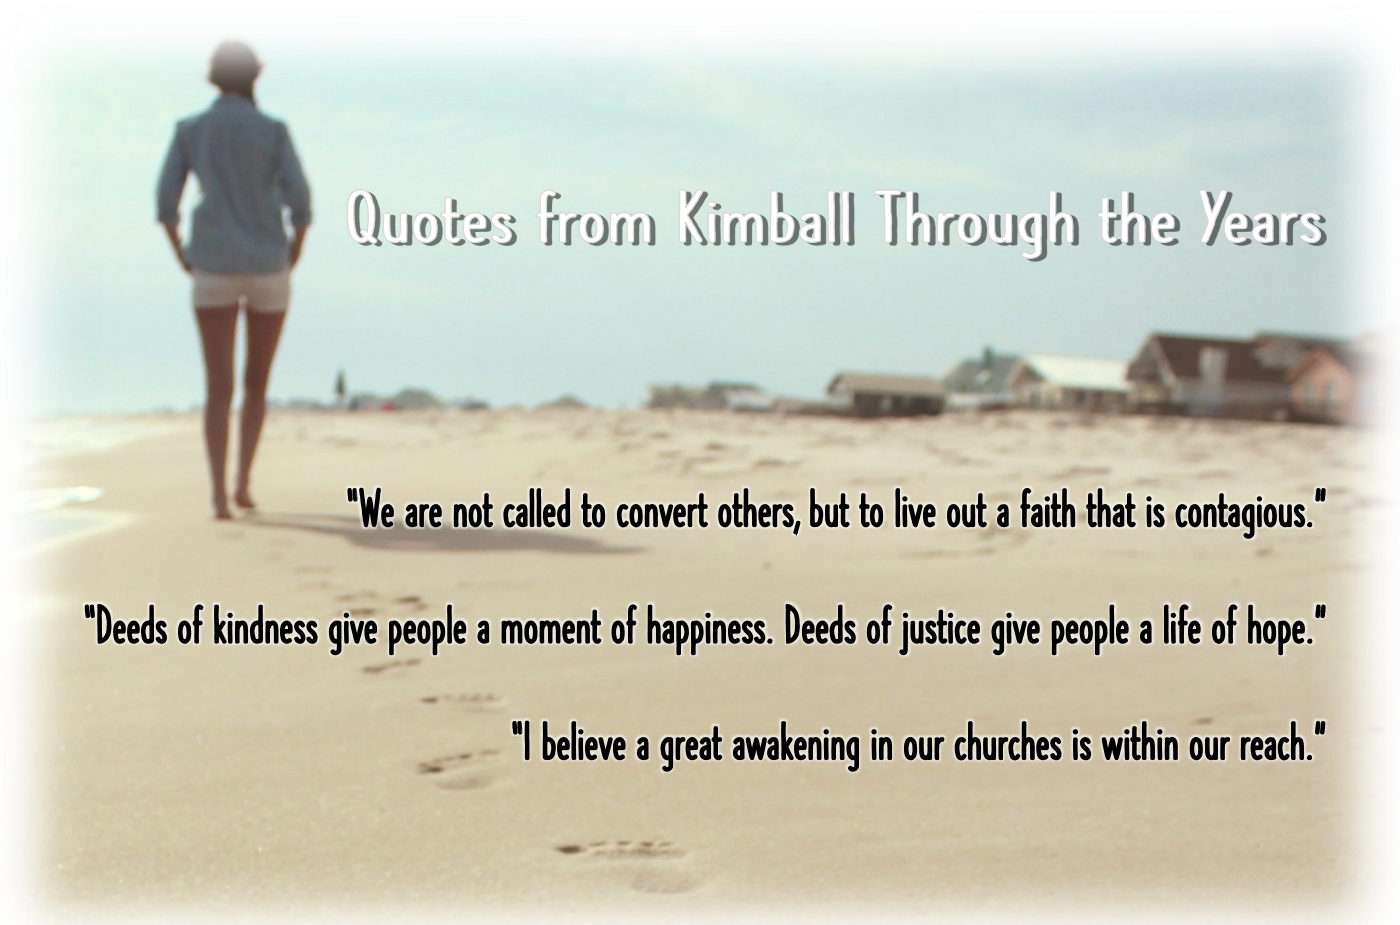

Vision is more than just seeing something.
Vision is being something.

Quotes from Kimball Through the Years

"We are not called to convert others, but to live out a faith that is contagious."

"Deeds of kindness give people a moment of happiness. Deeds of justice give people a life of hope."

"I believe a great awakening in our churches is within our reach."
